'43 CAR MODELS ARE DISCARDED

General Motors Plan Is Expected To Be Used By Other Firms

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT, April 19.—General Motors' announcement that it is making no plans for new model passenger cars in 1943 is expected in automotive circles here to be followed shortly by similar decision by the remainder of the motor car industry.

In announcing his company's decision yesterday in New York, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., General Motors board chairman, said the action had been determined upon so that all possible acceleration might be given to the national defense program.

Pledge Defense Efforts

All other companies manufacturing motor vehicles have pledged their fullest effort to the defense materials production program, and a decision to forego 1943 model changes has been regarded among authoritative observers in the industry as an "obvious eventuality."

While the Ford Motor company and Chrysler corporation, which with General Motors produce about 85 per cent of all the nation's automobiles, have made no definite statement yet of their 1943 model plans, their reaction to the Sloan announcement left little doubt of their plans for 1943.

"The entire industry," said a Ford spokesman, "has been of the opinion that there would be no new models for 1943. As far as the Ford Motor company is concerned, the defense program comes first and we have no choice."

Chrysler's attitude was expressed by K. T. Keller, its president. "We have been so busy with defense work that we have not had a chance to think about 1943 models," he said. "We have not got our 1942 models out yet."

Sloan said that General Motors' elimination of 1943 model plans would reduce the pressure on machine tools and plants. He said the corporation spends from $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 on an "average model change."

Sloan said that General Motors

GREECE IS FACING CABINET CRISIS

ASHES YIELD SOLUTION IN MURDER CASE

Church Janitor In Akron Admits Burning Music Teacher's Body

IDENTIFY EASTER SLAYING VICTIM

Suspect Says Girl Fell, Struck Head Against Piano Bench

(By Associated Press)
AKRON, April 19.—Police said today the 58-year-old janitor of North Hill Methodist church had confessed incinerating the body of Ruth Zwicker, 24-year-old music teacher, but contended she died accidentally in a scuffle after he sought a kiss.

Detective Inspector Verne Cross attributed the confession to Albert B. Lukens, father of three grown children. Cross said Lukens signed a statement relating:

"I asked her for a kiss and she struck my face. I grabbed her right arm and in the scuffle she fell, striking her head against the piano bench.

"Then I dragged her down the steps and into the coal bin. About 6 o'clock Easter morning I returned to the church and built a fire in the boilers. I threw her and the music sheets into the boiler."

Inspector Cross and Prosecutor Alva Russell expressed belief Lukens had not told "the whole story." Russell said he would bring a murder charge against the janitor, held tentatively as a suspicious person.

Cross quoted the janitor as saying he burned the body for fear he would be incriminated in the death. The young woman's father, A. W. Zwicker, told detectives that he had helped him search last Saturday night through the many rooms of the church.

The father had found the young woman's car near the church, and feared for his daughter's safety. The young woman had been sought since Easter as a possible amnesia victim.

GOERING PRAISES NAZI CHIEFTAIN

Hitler, 52 tomorrow. Called Defender of German Honor, Liberty

BERLIN, April 19.—Reichsmarschal Hermann Wilhelm Goering hailed Adolf Hitler today as defender of German honor and liberty, guarantor of the German future, in a message to the nation on the eve of the fuhrer's 52nd birthday, which he will celebrate tomorrow at military headquarters in the field.

The German people have a firm belief in the victory of the fuhrer's German Reich, and the hearts of all Germans, said Goering, "in Europe, north, south, east and west and beyond the seas" beat in love and gratitude.

Press Chief Dr. Otto Dietrich, one of the fuhrer's intimates, disclosed for the first time since the beginning of the Balkan campaigns that Hitler was in the field, but did not of course, say exactly where.

(The presumption was that he was somewhere in the Balkans, the only active land front in Europe.) Hitler was said to be in "vigorous health."

He recalled that Hitler spent his last birthday in Berlin just after the "victory in Norway, occupied with bold and strategic planning as he stood on the threshold of the crushing campaign in the west."

In the intervening 12 months, Belgium, Holland, France, Luxembourg and now Yugoslavia have fallen to the armies of the man who spent his 26th, 27th, 28th and 29th birthdays as a private and corporal in Germany's World War army.

What Germans' Terrific Aerial Attack Did to Britain's Capital City

This cablephoto from London shows only a part of the devastation wrought by German aerial bombers in a terrific eight-hour raid of the British capital. It was the greatest massed Nazi air attack of the war. U. S. Ambassador John G. Winant narrowly escaped death when a high explosive bomb fell near where he stood speaking to residents in the west end, hard hit by the bombing.

U. S. MAY LEVY FORMER TAXES

Life Insurance, Railroad Ticket Charges May Be Revived

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 19.—Revival of a long list of World War excise taxes, such as those on railroad tickets and life insurance policies, was described in congressional circles today as logical step toward the proposed goal of $3,500,000,000 in additional revenues.

Some members of the house ways and means committee went so far as to say renewal of such levies was "a foregone conclusion." Those legislators explained that the additional excise taxes would be necessary to make up whatever amounts the prospective increases in income and corporation taxes fail to produce.

Well-informed members said that in addition to producing new revenue, needed to finance the defense program, the administration looked to higher taxes for a psychological result—impression on the general public of the gravity of the current situation.

Among the biggest money-raisers in the excise tax group 20 years ago was the levy on the transportation of freight by rail or water which, in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, produced $140,019,200. The preceding year, the tax on passenger travel by rail or water produced $98,783,635. Both levies were discontinued in 1922.

Other excise taxes imposed during or immediately after the World War included levies on lighting fixtures, medicinal preparations, soft drinks, motion picture film, sporting goods, cameras and lenses, chewing gum, firearms, and electric fans.

In the year ending June 30, 1920, the tax on candy brought in $23,142,933 but the yield dropped to less than half that sum in 1924, the last year it was collected.

Committee Meets Monday
The ways and means committee is to meet Monday in closed session with treasury officials to go over the situation and Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.) said the group probably would decide then when to begin public hearings on the matter. Doughton expressed belief it would require at least two months to get the tax bill through congress.

Although President Roosevelt indicated he did not favor imposition of a general manufacturers' sales tax to raise the money, some sentiment for such an impost developed within the committee. Legislators in favor of it said the government already has a number of sales taxes in effect, including the gasoline and theater admission taxes, and there was no reason why a broader range of items should not be included during the emergency.

Opponents of the sales tax contended, however, that it would place an unfair share of the burden on the little fellow who is least able to pay.

Deanna, Lovely In Ivory Satin Gown, Is Nervous As She Murmurs, "I Do"

(By Associated Press)
HOLLYWOOD, April 19.—Deanna Durbin, radiant lovely in an ivory satin gown, murmured a scarcely audible "I do" and became the bride of 25-year-old Vaughn Paul last night.

Several thousand fans of the golden-voiced movie songstress filled outside the swank Wilshire Methodist edifice while inside 900 guests witnessed Hollywood's first big church wedding in nearly four years.

Nineteen-year-old Deanna obviously was nervous as she walked down the aisle on the arm of her father, James Durbin. Paul, young studio executive, replied "I do" in a clear voice to the Rev. Dr. Willis Martin's "do you take this woman..."

FOUR MORE GUILTY PLEAS ARE LISTED

Only Three Out of 12 Who Were Indicted Will Stand Trial

LISBON, April 19.—Four more defendants indicted by the grand jury appeared before Judge Joel H. Sharp Friday afternoon and withdrew former pleas of innocent and pleaded guilty, leaving but three persons out of 12 indicted to stand trial.

Mearl Hawkins of East Liverpool pleaded guilty of burglary in connection with the robbery of the Church of Christ in East Liverpool, and was sentenced to one to 15 years in the Ohio penitentiary.

Albert Brooks of Leetonia, who had entered a plea of guilty to a joint indictment charging robbery of the "Y" filling station west of Lisbon, was given a term of from 10 to 25 years in the Mansfield reformatory.

Casper Romane and Mike Romane of Leetonia, jointly indicted with Brooks, pleaded guilty to the robbery charge, and each was sentenced to from 10 to 25 years in the Mansfield reformatory. Claudius Neider of Columbiana, fourth member of the quartet who pleaded not guilty to the charge, also faces an indictment charging him with receiving and concealing stolen property.

The two other cases to be disposed of, out of the 13 indictments returned by the grand jury, include that of Paul M. Fogo, Wellsville justice of the peace, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of embezzlement, and that of Clyde Schaffer of Salem, who pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging a criminal attack upon a 17-year-old Salem girl.

Fogo is charged with conversion of a $150 cash replevin bond posted in his court by William Howell of Parkersburg, W. Va. Fogo is at liberty under $1,500 bond.

DRAFT BOARDS PUSHING WORK

1,058 More Questionnaires To Be Mailed Out In Salem Area

Columbiana county draft board No. 1 at East Liverpool today sent out its last questionnaire and expects to have its last 200 selectees classified by next Wednesday. East Liverpool draft board members expect to be one of the first draft boards in the state to wind up classification work.

The East Liverpool board today issued its 3,849th questionnaire, the last on the list, and Monday will commence classification of the last 200 draftees.

Salem's draft board, No. 2 in the county, has 1,058 more questionnaires to send out. A total of 2,562 already has been mailed, 2,362 having been classified.

Draft board No. 3 at Lisbon has 1,400 questionnaires to issue. There are 3,400 men in the Lisbon district. About 1,875 have been classified.

Columbiana county draft board rosters today showed a total of 275 men in Class 1-A, fit and ready for military service. East Liverpool has 75 youths in 1-A, while Salem and Lisbon have 100 each.

Figures of the three draft boards show that 10,869 men in the county are in the 21 to 35 draft age limit.

REPORT KING TAKING OVER WAR CONTROL

Premier Korizis Succumbs Suddenly; Cause Not Announced

LARISA CAPTURED, GERMANY CLAIMS

But Athens Asserts Nazis Have Failed To Crack Defense Line

(By Associated Press)
The German high command today claimed the capture of Larisa, 40 miles south of Mount Olympus, and said the swastika had been raised on the mountain itself.

But British army headquarters in Athens asserted the heavy Nazi attacks had failed to penetrate the British-Greek line at any point. Greece had a cabinet crisis on its hands as a result of the unexpected death of Premier Alexandros Korizis, successor to Gen. John Metaxas, who died Jan. 29. There were reports that King George II planned the formation of a military government and it was understood the monarch himself had assumed wartime control as head of the council of ministers.

Informed sources said the king earlier had asked Kostas Kotzias, former military governor of Athens, to form a cabinet but that he had failed to do so.

German political circles meanwhile indicated that Adolf Hitler's 52nd birthday anniversary tomorrow may be marked by a Greek-Axis armistice. This belief was based on the German claims of a break through the Greek mountain passes.

The British threat to bomb Rome in case Athens or Cairo were attacked from the air was angrily rejected. Officials said Germany had no intention of bombing either city.

There was still a feeling of mystery about the movements of Franz von Papen, Nazi ambassador to Turkey. Reports from Rome said the Greeks had used him as an intermediary for an armistice request, but this could not be confirmed in Berlin.

Political observers in Berlin were also of the opinion that Turkey may now be counted in the Axis column and that the country will go beyond benevolent neutrality.

The German high command said Nazi forces had sunk 19,000 tons of shipping around Britain in a few hours.

The official German wireless, heard in New York, said Bulgarian troops last night began streaming into western Thrace and Macedonia and the Morava area of eastern Serbia. This action was in line

FIRST AID UNITS ARE FORMED BY WPA

LISBON, April 19.—C. Porter Aiken, supervisor of the WPA adult education classes in Columbiana county, announced a very successful organization meeting for first aid classes in the American Legion hall in Columbiana Thursday night, with 22 persons present.

The meeting was jointly conducted by local American Red Cross and the WPA adult education program, with Kenneth Gariste and Robert Henry of the American Red Cross and J. Wilbur Koch, district supervisor of adult education, as the speakers.

Arrangements were made to divide the group into two classes, one of which will be held in the Legion hall in Columbiana on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock with Mrs. Sandra Siegel of Leetonia as director. The other will meet every Monday and Wednesday night in the Columbiana village hall under the direction of Fred Shannon of East Liverpool. These classes are free of charge and are open to the public.

Health Board Officials To War On 'Meanest Man'

City Sanitary Officer Elmer J. Kesselmirre, backed by other health department officials, today launched a campaign against "the meanest man in town."

He, in the opinion of the board, is the fellow who, under cover of darkness, loads his table and kitchen refuse and household rubbish into his automobile and sneaks out into the country or to outlying city streets and litters the roadside with the garbage.

Persons guilty of such practices will face prosecution, Kesselmirre said.

City officials are cooperating in the Junior Chamber of Commerce's "Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up" campaign which opens Monday.

130,000,000 INTERESTED SPECTATORS

Government policy on price control, which has crystallized in the strongly controversial order freezing steel prices, is of tremendous interest to 130,000,000 Americans. They may not know what the complications are, but they do know that unless prices can be held down, the war boom is going to catch most of them where it caught them 25 years ago—in the neck. They don't want that to happen.

They are ready, in other words, for any reasonable regulation that promises to keep them from getting squeezed by prices that rise faster than their incomes. This covers a lot of territory. Besides guaranteeing support for moves to block excessive profit-taking, the public's healthy fear of inflation guarantees support for restrictions on excessive wage increases.

Obviously, if organized labor were to get behind a movement to squeeze out all the wages that national defense traffic would bear, abandoning the rule of moderation the federal government seems prepared to enforce on capital the result would be just as inflationary as though capital had acted irresponsibly. Public interest calls for equitable regulation of both partners in production; both are answerable, through the government, to consumers.

Something more than a firm hand controlling prices and wages will be needed, of course, to prevent inflation. Rising prices and wages are not primary causes of inflation, which results from inability to satisfy demand for goods. If there be 10 purchasers for one automobile, the automobile's price will be determined by the purchaser who wants the vehicle enough to out-bid nine others. That is inflation. By establishing priority controls and by other methods, the government must discourage competitive bidding for commodities.

Its efforts to do this will be called unreasonable. It will be proved on paper that this party or that party has not acted in good faith. There will be charges and counter-charges of prejudice. Resemblances to fascism, state capitalism, Nazism and so on will be discerned and loudly proclaimed. Fears of dictatorial government will be agitated. Many of these doubts and apprehensions will be justified. Well and good. Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. But—if it always is remembered that the alternative to the attempt to "sit on the inflationary bulge" is to get thrown sky-high and come back to earth with a crash when the bulge explodes, the end will seem to be to justify the means.

There are 130,000,000 interested spectators at the experiment gets under way. They are praying for wisdom in Washington—more wisdom than they expect in ordinary times. But if the wisdom doesn't materialize, the tumultuous story of inflation is going to add another runaway chapter that no one wants to read.

SWALLOW HARD AND COUNT 10

Inside story of Germany's seizure of Norway was beginning to trickle into the American press a year ago. It was the second foretaste of the "blitzkrieg" that was to flatten Belgium, the Netherlands, and France—a sharper foretaste than the earlier conquest of Poland, because it revealed the grand strategy of Germany's campaign against Great Britain.

The Norwegian pushover served a special purpose. It taught them to swallow hard and count 10 before believing any future tall tales about the things Germany couldn't do. Thus, they were prepared for the first bad news from the campaign in the lowlands, though the collapse of France caught them unprepared. But the collapse of France, in turn, prepared them for a lot of subsequent events that otherwise might have been surprising, such as the rapid disintegration of organized resistance in Yugoslavia. The psychological experience of realizing that Adolf Hitler is a kind of mechanized Napoleon Bonaparte has been survived, just as each new world conqueror somehow has been survived until sufficient measures to bring about his downfall could be taken.

As long as news from the war fronts abroad continues to be as inconclusive as it is at present, with all signs pointing to Allied defeat but not indicating the extent, the time might be used profitably in getting braced for the bad news that probably is forthcoming. The experience will be less harrowing than it was a year ago, for one thing. Americans can draw confidence from their own measures of preparedness. They have made a start toward achieving their destiny, which is to prove to all would-be conquerors that there is no unconquerable nation.

They are less subject in 1941 to attacks of nerves than they were in 1939 and 1940—and more subject to attacks of conviction. They are still not forgetting to swallow hard and count 10 when informed that the side which has their sympathy can't be beaten, though apparently some of their officials occasionally suffer from wishful thinking. Most important of all, they no longer have the empty feeling that comes from certain knowledge of helplessness. It may take five years to do the job right, but a lot has been done the first year.

Old world politicians have made progress in molding their new world order, but the most important thing they have done is to revitalize the United States. They have created the force that ultimately will wreck their hope of proving that the debasement of men is the proper destiny of politicians.

NATIONAL RESOURCES

Those cartoons and quips about the new United States army stopping at filling stations for road maps weren't funny after all. The humor was obvious and so was the need for the maps—and they are good maps.

They are good enough to steer the new "h---on wheels" army to most of the places it wants to go. The intelligence officer of the 44th division says so and has advised their use whenever more elaborate terrain maps aren't available.

In the United States are umpsteven million American men who can go anywhere in the world with a free road map and a tankful of gasoline. It is an acquired skill, something that exists in no other country. Furthermore, all these potential defenders can herd a virtually un-armored car through congested combat zones without even a scratch on the fenders. Driving a tank, they wouldn't hesitate to take the family out for a spin on Sunday with one hand tied behind them.

There are a lot of things about life in these United States that will make it a hard customer to deal with in case someone wants to start something. Certainly one of the nation's assets is a population that has been practicing for a whole generation and now knows how to take a steering wheel in one hand, a road map in the other, seize time by the forelock and herd a mechanized conveyance to a destination without untoward incidents.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, April 20

SUNDAY'S horoscope is not a particularly promising one, since it holds portent of sudden and disrupting visitations difficult to analyze or forecast. Something in the nature of an upheaval, spading-up or precipitate or violent action may materialize. This may make unexpected inroads on the finances, call for unusual outlay of funds or perhaps involve litigation. Shun conflict and any sort of excess.

Those whose birthday it is should be prepared for a year of sudden and unpredictable events, with turbulence, disruption and upheaval affecting the emotional as well as business life. It may involve litigation, financial loss or other disagreeable and aggravating terms, but in all maintain balance, good judgment.

A child born on this day may be erratic, indulgent, temperamental, prone to extravagance and indulgences which may mean loss and sorrow. It should have early discipline by discerning parents.

For Monday, April 21

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is a fairly fortunate one, with promise of success, advancement and preferment in employment, business and in the purely personal phases of life. However, there are curious, intriguing and even sinister aspects of an insidious and obscure nature which might lead to loss, litigation and other undesirable entanglements.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a rather successful and prosperous year, with promotion, honors, preferments in both business and private life. Curious situations and intrigues may lure to loss, litigation or dangers, but the judgment being sane may avert such peculiar entanglements. Public or community associations are not encouraged.

A child born on this day should have a gentle, compassionate and amiable nature unless aroused to resentments by annoyance or peculiar and insidious assaults.

USE TEST DIETS IN ACNE

Patients Are Often Sensitive To Some Foods

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Acne or, in plain words, pimples, on the face in the young is a constant subject for speculation both by the patients and by dermatologists.

Many causes have been ascribed to it and many methods of treatment have been used from time to time. Perhaps no one form of diet is more effective than the following:

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

treatment is ever going to be entirely successful. There persists, however, the idea that food may have something to do with it. The old style dermatologists prohibit their patients from eating candy and this is probably based on good experience.

A Canadian physician, Dr. Frank E. Cormia, of Montreal, Canada, has found that in about 20 per cent of his patients they are sensitive to some kind of food. It need not necessarily be candy, sugars, or fats, according to the old ideas. It simply means that the patients are sensitive to certain kinds of food. When these foods are withdrawn from the diet, improvement occurs. He has had good results in 70 per cent of his patients.

The foods most commonly found to cause exacerbations of the skin condition, in the order of frequency, are chocolate, tomatoes, nuts, spinach, and wheat.

In testing his patients Doctor Cormia gives them elimination diets, or, rather, test diets. The patient is told to stay on a certain kind of diet for several days and if the skin flares up, it can be assumed that the foods in this diet are to a certain extent responsible. The diets are as follows:

Diet 1
Milk, 2 or 3 quarts daily for two days. This includes butter, milk, cream and seizer water.

Diet 2
Basic diet, to be continued for four days: Lamb, rice, carrots, beets, peaches, pears, lemons. Miscellaneous: Olive oil, unstuffed olives, gelatin, maple syrup, sugar, butter and salt. Salt must be plain, not iodized. Gravies must be thickened with rice flour. Pure rye bread. Milk, if patient is not sensitive.

Diet 3
This is a changing diet, to be substituted for Diet 2. It consists of four groups of foods, each to be taken for three-day periods. However, foods listed in Diet 2 may be added; also milk, if the patient is not sensitive.

1. Chicken, eggs turnips, corn; apricots, prunes; tea.
2. Beef; cabbage, lettuce, cauliflower; grapefruit, apples, pickles; coffee.
3. Whitefish (fresh-water fish).

It need not necessarily be candy, sugars, or fats, according to the old ideas. It simply means that the patients are sensitive to certain kinds of food. When these foods are withdrawn from the diet, improvement occurs. He has had good results in 70 per cent of his patients.

The foods most commonly found to cause exacerbations of the skin condition, in the order of frequency, are chocolate, tomatoes, nuts, spinach, and wheat.

In testing his patients Doctor Cormia gives them elimination diets, or, rather, test diets. The patient is told to stay on a certain kind of diet for several days and if the skin flares up, it can be assumed that the foods in this diet are to a certain extent responsible. The diets are as follows:

Diet 1
Milk, 2 or 3 quarts daily for two days. This includes butter, milk, cream and seizer water.

Diet 2
Basic diet, to be continued for four days: Lamb, rice, carrots, beets, peaches, pears, lemons. Miscellaneous: Olive oil, unstuffed olives, gelatin, maple syrup, sugar, butter and salt. Salt must be plain, not iodized. Gravies must be thickened with rice flour. Pure rye bread. Milk, if patient is not sensitive.

Diet 3
This is a changing diet, to be substituted for Diet 2. It consists of four groups of foods, each to be taken for three-day periods. However, foods listed in Diet 2 may be added; also milk, if the patient is not sensitive.

1. Chicken, eggs turnips, corn; apricots, prunes; tea.
2. Beef; cabbage, lettuce, cauliflower; grapefruit, apples, pickles; coffee.
3. Whitefish (fresh-water fish).

"Forbid Them Not!" Will Be Rev. Keister's Topic At Holy Trinity Church

"Forbid Them Not," is Rev. G. D. Keister's subject for the Sunday morning worship at the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church. Announcements follow:

First Sunday after Easter. Sunday school 9:45 (Acts 4:8-20). Charles W. Youtz, superintendent. Some of the mightiest of power cannot be classified as physical in character. There is power that is unseen, but whose influence is far-reaching and irresistible. The work of the Christian church has been reinforced by some energy that is more than human. The push and driving force of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ changed the darkness of Good Friday into the glory and life of Easter Sunday. Fifty days after the Resurrection of Jesus was the day of Pentecost, when the Holy Spirit was bestowed upon the disciples. That was the birthday of the Church. From that time, the witnessing power of Christianity has been a dominant force.

Morning worship, 11 a. m. Morning worship, 11 a. m. Sermon: "Forbid Them Not." (Service of Holy Baptism for Children). Holy Baptism is one of the two Sacraments of the church. It was instituted by our Savior Jesus Christ, who said, "Whoever believeth and is baptized shall be saved, whoever believeth not, shall be condemned." Jesus had a drawing power which brought little children to Him. There must have been a kindness of disposition and attitude that attracted the little ones to the Savior. He urged that the children be permitted to come to Him, and that no one forbid them to come. He praised them and set them down as examples for people who seek entrance to the Kingdom of God.

The C. Y. Federation of Luther Leagues will meet for their quarterly session at our church, Sunday at 2:45 p. m. The evening session will begin at 7 p. m.

The children of the church meet Sunday at 11 a. m. in the Sunday school room.

Baptists Repeat Vesper Service

In an effort to conserve the new peak of interest and enthusiasm for spiritual things gained during the Easter season, Rev. Magann will preach Sunday morning on "Your Living Religion." Among other things this sermon will point to the way in which Christianity fits in to help one solve the practical problems of life and its presence in every day. A fashion is a definite proof of its existence. When one possesses Christianity it is a living religion.

At 7:30 p. m. Sunday the senior choir will repeat the special music used for the "Vesper Music Hour" Sunday afternoon. The audience was so well pleased with the music that they made a special request to have it repeated.

The music will be given by the choir, with Walter Regal as director and organist and Miss Meta McCave as guest organist. The program will include:
 Organ selections by Mr. Regal, "Night In Palestine" (Heyser) and "Near the Cross" (Porter); Scripture and prayer, Rev. S. T. Magann; "Blessed Is He That Cometh" (Swanson), choir; "Come Unto Him" (from Handel's "Messiah"), Mrs. Robert Talbot; "They Have Taken Away My Lord" (Wilson), choir.

Christian Science Lists Sunday Announcements

CHURCH—CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
 "Doctrine of Atonement," is the subject of the lesson sermon which will be read at the morning worship of the Christian Science society tomorrow.

The Sunday service is also broadcast over station WOIE (610 Kil.). Cleveland, the first and third Sundays of each month at 11 a. m. Sunday school for pupils up to the age of 20 years is held at 9:30 a. m. The midweek service will be held the first Wednesday of each month at the church at 8 p. m.

The Golden Text is: "All things are of God, who hath reconciled us to Himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation" (II Corinthians 5:18).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of disease among the people" (Matthew 4:23).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Though demonstrating his control over sin and disease, the great Teacher by no means relieved others from giving the requisite proofs of their own piety. He worked for their guidance, that they might demonstrate this power as he did and understand its divine Principle. 'Implicit faith in the Teacher and all the emotional love we can bestow on him, will never alone make us imitators of him. We must go and do likewise, else we are not improving the great blessings which our Master worked and suffered to bestow upon us.' (p. 25).

This society maintains a reading room at 136 S. Broadway where the Bible and all authorized Christian Science literature may be read or borrowed. The room is open from 3:30 to 4 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and from 7 to 9 p. m. on Saturday. Rev. Bauman to Talk At Emmanuel's Service On Post-Easter Program

At the morning service of the Emmanuel American Lutheran church, Rev. Bauman's sermon will be, "Our Post-Easter Program." The text is written in John 20, 21 "Then said Jesus unto them again, Peace be unto you: as my Father hath sent Me, so send I you." If you have no church home, come and worship with us. We teach and preach Christ crucified.

After Easter What? Every minister dreads the post-Easter lapse of the seasonal "Christian" who gives promise of spiritual life during the Lenten season and, of course, appear at the Easter festival and then after Easter promptly sink back into their former somnolent condition. A preacher would not be a human being if he did not thrill to the crowds that throng into the house of God on the great festival of the resurrection. But his joy is always tinged with sadness because of the terrific let-down which the following Sunday is bound to bring when the "Easter Christians" have done their annual religious chore and have gone back to the world.

There is no indication in the Bible that the fellowship with the Risen Christ is to be seasonal. If it means anything at all it must be a steady companionship. The spiritual needs are just as pressing after Easter as before. The sustenance of the soul is a constant requirement. The Easter message has been fruitless if it has not inspired a new spirit of consecration and the holy resolve to walk close to the risen Lord.

Her subjects are: "Staging a Flower Show" and "Ingenuity in Flower Arrangement." Lectures, to begin promptly at 11 a. m. and 2 p. m., include demonstrations and the speaker will make her own arrangements.

An exhibit of flower arrangements and table settings will be given in conjunction with the course. Although there will be an informal discussion of exhibits of garden club members, there will be no judging or award of prizes. Exhibits are non-competitive.

A new organization has been started on the Capital university (Columbus) campus, but it does not necessarily have administration backing. It is a group of men who have organized for the sole purpose of having fancy haircuts, the new college sensation.

They call themselves the "Butch club," probably because they think the cut of their hair makes them look like prize fighters. To date, the only ones to do the fighting are the coeds who, for several days after the organization started, refused to date any of the "shorn" members.

Harold Hoprich, of Salem, is one of the members of this club. He is shown in the above photograph standing farthest to the right in

"Lover Come Back" by BARRETT WILLOUGHBY

SYNOPSIS

Captain "Dynamite" Danny O'More, head of O'More Seiners Ltd., a Sitka, Alaska, herring industry, is dictating his memoirs to his spirited, young granddaughter Sonda. His story goes back fifty years to the time when he, as master of the sealer, "Glory of the West" was hunted by Captain Ramps Reynall, terror of seal poachers. Danny was in love with Reynall's daughter, Jacqueline but just as their wedding seemed imminent, a quarrel parted them. Danny left Sitka but returned a year later, in command of a new ship, "The Triton." He remained only long enough to marry Tanya Karamanova, descendant of one of Sitka's aristocratic Russian settlers. Immediately after the wedding, Jacqueline took a cruise around world. Two years ago, Dynamite retired as executive of a Seattle steamship company and returned to "Echo House," his late wife's ancestral home. Jacqueline has just returned to Sitka after an absence of two years. Seeing her reminds Sonda of Jean Reynall, her childhood playmate. Jean's father was Jacqueline's foster son and after his death, the old spinster adopted him. Although Jean was sent away to school and Sonda hasn't seen him in years, she still carries him in her heart. Kemp Starbuck, young President of American Packers and Sonda's admirer, calls. Talk turns to Dynamite's sealing days and Kemp asks him how he was able to find the hide-outs which helped him outwit Ramps Reynall. Kemp appears unusually interested when Dynamite explains that he made a map which charted every dog-hole along the Aleutians. "There are some who would pay high for those charts just now but when those train's go out of me hands they'll go to Uncle Sam and none other," vows the old captain. He believes Japan has so-called fishing boats, commanded by intelligence officers, checking the Alaskan coastline. Kemp scoffs at the idea, and changes the subject to herring.

CHAPTER FIVE

"And now what about me catch, lad?" asked the Captain, after sampling his drink. His voice was friendly but a certain wariness had come into his eyes.

Sonda settled herself to listen. The O'More fleet was really her property. On her grandfather's retirement from his own business two years ago, he had invested the legacy left by her parents in six herring seiners, which would remain under his management until she was twenty-five. She felt it was time that she learned something of the business.

Kemp was saying, "Briefly, sir. I want all the herring you catch this season."

"Ye mean all me surplus, don't ye?"

"No. I want to contract for your entire season's catch. The same sort of contract you had with John Bates last year. Bates is dead. Is there any reason why you can't let me—that is, my firm—have it?"

"There's one reason, though there may be none by this time tomorrow, Starbuck. A new outfit—the Baranov Packers—have taken over the Bates holdings. They have until eleven tomorrow mornin' to exercise an optional contract for the catch of me fleet."

"The run is due to start any day now, and so far not one of the Baranov outfit is on the ground. They haven't even laid a sill for a new cannery or landed a single machine on the dock. Even if they do arrive tomorrow, they can't possibly get ready in time to use a fraction of your fleet's catch. To me it looks as if they'd stood you up, sir."

"Damn it! That's had me fraikin' me chafin' gear these three weeks past! I know they've opened a Seattle office, in charge of one James Ford who signs himself vice-president. But who's back of 'em, or what their plans are, I've no more idea than O'Flaherty's pig. Still, an option's an option, until it expires."

"True, sir. But if it expires tomorrow, it leaves you without a buyer on the eve of the herring run. I'm the only other packer in this district who can handle a catch as large as yours. But if I make a contract with someone else, won't you find it—er—let us say, embarrassing to go outside this district to market your herring?"

"But, confound it, sir, they haven't built their plant yet!" said Starbuck.

"Embarrassin'?" The Captain jerked himself erect, "What d'ye mean by that?"

"Well, sir, during the past week I've been to both Thomas and Swanson trying to contract for their surplus. A couple of years ago they would have jumped at the chance to sell me that surplus. This season, while they didn't exactly refuse outright, they stalled. They wouldn't promise anything or fix a price. I somehow got the idea that they wouldn't sell to me at any price."

"I think you and Thomas and Swanson have made a gentlemen's agreement. You've divided these coastal waters into three parts, each to stick close to his own district, neither fishing nor selling outside it. In a working alliance, with your sea-going fleets, the three of you control the herring industry. You have the rest of us at your mercy. We can either buy your surplus at a fancy price, or watch our plants stand idle. But supposing this Baranov outfit folds up on you tomorrow leaving you to look for another market? Suppose, meantime, that I, the only large packer in this district of yours, should have made other arrangements for my fish? Wouldn't that gentlemen's agreement, binding you not to sell outside your district, prove rather embarrassing to your operations? Of course, I'm only guessing, but—" A lift of his eyebrows completed the sentence. "Starbuck, I admit nothin', ye understand, but I'll say this—ye are a good guesser. Ye've put your cards on the table, and so will I. I've agreed to furnish Baranov Packers with all the herring they can handle, provided they fork over an advance of thirty thousand dollars. To bind the bargain, they must have a representative here on or before tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock, with cash or a certified check for that amount. So, until then—"

"But, confound it, sir, they haven't built their plant yet. They—"

"I know. But I phoned Jarvis at the bank this mornin' and finagled around till I learned Baranov Packers have a husky deposit in his bank. They can produce that advance—if one of 'em gets here by tomorrow."

"But if they fail to arrive, you have no reason for refusing to let me take up that contract for my company, have you, sir?"

"I have. Though 'tis more a personal prejudice than a business reason, Starbuck. 'Tis this: Ye employ too many Orientals to suit me."

"Oh, be fair now sir! I'm not the only one! Every packer in Alaska brings in Orientals. Always has. If he didn't, he'd go broke. You know the reason for that as well as I do. Most of the natives belong to the Russian Church, with its hundred and eighty-eight holidays a year. A man can't put up a pack with cannery hands who will lay off in the midst of the biggest run to celebrate a holiday."

"There's some truth in that," admitted the Captain. However, things have changed since the Japs began invadin' Bering Sea, sealin' American fish under our very noses and cannin' 'em in Japanese floatin' canneries anchored in American waters. This year every Alaskan packer has cut down on his Oriental crew except yourself. Ye haven't a single white man or an Indian on any of your seine boats, now have ye?"

Starbuck flushed. "No. But I have in my cannery. I—I took that very matter up with my board of directors, but—Well, here's the situation, Captain. Although I'm president of my concern, my position here is more that of a salaried superintendent. I'm a long way from having the final voice in many matters of company policy, you understand."

"Um-m-m. I see. Well, by next season, ye'd better see to it that some of those little brown men are weeded out of your fishing fleet, Starbuck. I don't like 'em. However, I do like the way ye've been above-board with me. When a man shoots square with me, I do the same with him. Otherwise—"

He paused significantly.

"Yes, sir. But what about the fish?" persisted Kemp, about the fish? "A single-minded devil, ye are, Starbuck. The Captain grinned. Well, if I'm hooked with the Baranov contract, I can promise ye no more than me surplus; but I'll turn ye every barrel of that. And if that lackadaisical Baranov outfit is late with that advance by so much as five minutes, I'll—"

He broke off as a loud, labored wheezing came through the door from the hall. Polena. Been running up the stairs again. What's wrong now, Polena?"

Slain Editor Threatened?

Fascist vengeance or business enmity are believed to have been the two possible motives for the gangland-style slaying of John Arena, editor of an Italian-language newspaper in Chicago, according to investigators working on the case. Arena, 43, was shot to death as he prepared to drive away from a theater in company with Eleanor Herrmeyer, 17, a high school student who identified Arena as sponsor of her singing career. Arena's wife told investigators her husband had been threatened with death "many times" because of repeated anti-Fascist editorials. Miss Herrmeyer is shown above testifying at the inquest.

Derringer Faces Pittsburgh Today

PITTSBURGH, April 19.—It's up to big Paul Derringer today to stop Pittsburgh and a growing mutter of "What's the matter with the Reds?"

Derringer, who won one and lost one against the Pirates last year, opposes Russell Lee Bauers whose 15 ball games last season found him credited with two losses and no victories.

Bucky Walters joined Derringer and Junior Thompson of the highly rated Cincinnati pitching staff in getting started in the mound in his initial start yesterday as the Pirates, with a 4-1 victory, puts the Reds' loss string at four more than any setback streak of last season.

Vincent Paul DiMaggio did the damage in the seventh with a long home which followed a triple by Bob Elliott and a walk to Elbie Fletcher. Maurice Van Robays led off the seventh with a home run tying the game at 1-1. Dick West rapped a four-bagger in the fourth for the Reds.

Big Albert Maxwell Butcher went the entire route for the Pirates, while Fireman Joe Beggs pitched the eighth for the Reds.

Boston Bees To Be Sold

BOSTON, April 19.—The Globe says a controlling interest in the Boston Bees baseball club will be sold next week to a newly-formed syndicate consisting largely of men who have been identified with the game as "fans" rather than as "magnates."

Ford Frick, president of the National league, will arrive in Boston today, apparently for consultation in connection with the deal, the newspaper said.

The Globe added that Bob Quinn, Bees president, would remain as active head of the club with Casey Stengel, a member of the syndicate, as manager.

BOWLING RESULTS

Endres-Gross went into third place last night in the Grate Ladies' league as it won three straight games from the Eagles while Polysky won two out of three from the Church Budget.

The one loss that Polysky suffered dropped them into a tie with Kaufman's for fourth place. Kaufman's swept three from the A. A. A. The league-leading Ford V-8's took two from the Trades Class and the second-place Brownies trounced Finney's three straight.

The Damascus Lumber and the Salem Cab were idle last night. However, the Lumber took eighth place away from the Church Budget who lost two to Polysky's.

Players hitting above the 200 mark last night were: Lippert of the Budget, 233 in the third game; Orr of the V-8's, 202 in the first; and Kline of Endres, 201 in third.

An inspection of records for the Pastime circuit at the Grate alleys reveals that Bill Pauline's 540 stands today as second high for the loop.

Pauline, a member of the Citizens Ice quintet, crushed out this fancy series as his team took three games from Albright's Wednesday night. He started out with a 202, followed with a 203 and wound up with a resounding 235. Forrest Bishop's 658 is tops in the league to date.

U. S. ARMY DRAFT HITS BASEBALL'S MIGHTY AND MEEK

Hank Greenberg Is Placed In 1-A Class, And So Is Cecil Travis

Just as intended, the army draft is striking both the mighty and the meek of baseball.

A selective service board in Detroit ended the confusion surrounding the status of big Hank Greenberg yesterday, and knocked the Tigers out of the American league pennant picture, by classifying him definitely 1-A and announcing he would be inducted into the army about May 7.

Another draft board disclosed yesterday that Cecil Travis, star shortstop of the Washington Senators, had been classified 1-A and probably would be called next month at about the time Third Baseman Buddy Lewis of the same team is to be inducted. Earlier this week Outfielder Joe Marty of the Phillies was informed he would be summoned. The same team already has given up Hugh Mulcahy.

Greenberg's going means a drastic change in position for Detroit—possibly a drop into the second division.

In the meantime the races in the two leagues are muddled in more than the usual early season turmoil.

In the National league the undefeated New York Giants are on top and the World Champion Reds are on the bottom without a single victory. The Boston Red Sox are unbeaten leaders of the American league while five clubs are tied for second with an even split of their games to date.

The Reds were routed 4-1 by the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday in spite of the fact that Bucky Walters went well for six innings.

The St. Louis Cardinals suffered their first defeat when the Chicago Cubs got rough with Clyde Shoun in the seventh inning on three extra base blows, the last a homer by Bill Nicholson, and won 6-4.

The Giants made peacoup of the Phillies 7-2, starting with a five-run third inning when Mel Ott homered with the bases loaded.

Brooklyn's bashful Dodgers, who hadn't won a game previously, had one given to them at Boston, where the Bees blew up with six errors and handed over an 11-6 decision.

The Red Sox stayed unbeaten with a nerve-tingling 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Home runs decided Detroit's 4-2 triumph over the Cleveland Indians.

Washington revenge its opening day defeat by the New York Yankees by shelling Lefty Marmus Russo for a dozen hits in four frames and won out 7-4 on the eight hit hurling of Southpaw Ken Chase.

Old Ted Lyons, usually a Sunday specialist, proved he could be just as effective on a week-day by leading the Chicago White Sox to a 6-3 verdict over the St. Louis Browns. He spread nine hits and kept his foe shutout until the seventh.

MANHATTAN, Kas.—Trees and wildlife are "staging a mutual comeback" in Kansas, Russell Reitz, state director of forest service, said today. Approximately 34,000 acres of trees planted by the service on 4,100 farms have provided food, shelter, nesting and denning places for additional wildlife.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ.

NEW YORK, April 19.—(Special News Service.)—A hockey hall of fame may be next. Corcoran, the hustling P. G. A. tournament manager, who helped put the golf hall of fame across, is booming it, and he's hard to stop once he gets underway.

Roy Weatherly, who got a $500 bonus last season for laying off umpires, must be have for nothing this year.

Colliers is sending letters of apology to every Alabama alumnus for that piece on how football stars fell on Alabama. . . . Tex Carleton, dropped by the Dodgers, may catch on as a picture broadcaster.

Picture Upside Down
O, the Flatbush wolves are howling
And Durocher is a growling,
And the great MacPhail is scowling—
Things have gone from bad to worse.

Out in front, the Giants are howling.
In the cellar Brooklyn's moping.
When, according to the doping,
It should be quite the reverse.

Which is why the cheerless Terry
Hasn't heard a single berry,
As they drink his health in verse.

And we sing his praise in verse.
(x) Up to yesterday.

Heard and Seen
Things got so serious in Flatbush that Larry MacPhail skipped the Giant-Dodger final and went to Newark to see his Montreal farm hands play.

Today's Sports Quiz: What pitcher has been a member of the Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals within the past six months, yet never wore the uniform of either club? Answer later. . . . Casey Stengel Broadcasting: "I wouldn't trade my Bees for the whole Red Sox outfit that played us in the spring series."

They Can Take It!
And now that all is said and done
And Greenberg's landed in class one,
Let's wire the good fans of Detroit
And say, "We hope you don't feel hoit."

Answer to Sports Quiz: Tot Pressnell. Brooklyn sold him to St. Louis in November. In December St. Louis sold him to the Reds. Come February and the champs shipped him to the Cubs, where he still was last time we looked.

Harry Grayson, sports editor of a Cleveland newspaper syndicate, has been barred from Indian home games for the fourth straight season—too many slaps at Slapnicka—which gives him permanent possession of the doghouse.

FELLER AFTER HIS FIRST WIN TODAY AGAINST DETROIT

Rapid Robert has Old Score To Settle With Tigers; Gorsica Hurls

DETROIT, April 19.—Bob Feller has an old score to settle today.

He takes on the Detroit Tigers, not only trying to put the Indians and himself into the win column, but also to avenge a couple of beatings the Tigers gave him when they clinched the pennant in the final week of the 1940 campaign.

Johnny Gorsica, a young right-hander who sparked in the World series last year is his mound opponent. It is Feller's second start of the season, following his opening day defeat at the hands of the White Sox.

Two homers were among the six hits which the Tigers made at the expense of Jim Bagby yesterday in winning the opener, 4 to 2, before 42,165 fans in their home-town opener.

Charlie Gehring got the first one in the sixth inning, breaking a 1 to 1 tie, but it was Birdie Tebbetts, the red-headed catcher, who sewed up the game with his round-tripper in the seventh inning. He lofted the ball into the lower left field seats, driving Pinky Higgins in ahead of him.

The Indians' first run was a homer by Ken Keltner in the sixth.

Don Ameche, Alice Faye and Carmen Miranda are featured in the technicolor musical, "That Night in Rio," showing at the State Sunday through Tuesday.

A dizzy comedy of a baron and a night-club entertainer in Rio de Janeiro, who look so much alike their business associates and their sweethearts and wife can't tell them apart is well played and produced. Ameche plays a dual role in the picture, which gives supporting roles to S. Z. Sakall, J. Carrol Naish, Curt Bois and Leonid Kinskey.

At the State Wednesday only is a murder mystery that has a most unusual ending, "Rage in Heaven," based on the James Hilton novel, featuring Robert Montgomery, Ingrid Bergman, George Sanders, Lucile Watson, Oscar Homolka and Philip Merivale.

The State's Thursday, Friday and Saturday feature will be the Bette Davis film, "The Great Lie," featuring George Brent, Mary Astor, Lucile Watson and Hattie McDaniel.

Concluding tonight at the State is "The Sea Wolf," Jack London's famous story, with Edward G. Robinson, John Garfield, Ida Lupino, and Alexander Knox.

The Grand's three double bills next week open with a return showing of the early "Vivacious Lady," the Ginger Rogers and James Stewart co-starring comedy-romance, and a mystery-adventure, "Scotland Yard," with Nancy Kelly, Edmund Gwenn, John Loder, Henry Wilcoxon, Melville Cooper, Gilbert Emery and Norma Varden.

Wednesday the Grand will present: "The Lone Wolf Takes a Chance," another in the series of mystery-adventures, with Warren William, Eric Blore, June Storey and Henry Wilcoxon; and a murder-mystery, "A Shot in the Dark," featuring William Lundigan, Nan Wynn, Ricardo Cortez, Regis Toomey and Maris Wrixon.

Friday's pictures at the Grand will include: A murder thriller, "Shadows on the Stairs" with Frieda Inescort, Paul Cavanaugh, Heather Angel, Bruce Lester and Miles Mander; and a western adventure, "The Wildcat of Tucson" with Bill Elliott and Evelyn Young.

At the Grand tonight is Gene Autry's "Back in the Saddle Again."

Ten Seek Chief's Job

EAST LIVERPOOL, April 19.—The Civil Service commission graded the papers of 10 firemen today after a competitive examination for appointment to fill a one-year vacancy in the fire chief's position. Chief Thomas Bryan died in February, 1940.

GREECE FACING CABINET CRISIS

with Bulgaria's old ambition to have a corridor to the Aegean. "The situation is serious in view of increasing German reinforcements from Yugoslavia," the Greek press ministry acknowledged. "The struggle continues with great violence all over northern Greece. German pressure is increasing. . . . So far no success has been achieved by the Germans (against the newly formed shorter defense line) and the battle is by no means decided."

Second Premier to Die

For all Greece the approaching hour of climax in the fight for national unity was complicated by the unexpected death of Premier Alexandros Korizis—second leader of the Greek government to die during the critical struggle.

Korizis, 56-year-old banker, had served 30 days after taking over the office at the death of Premier General John Metaxas.

Korizis' death late yesterday afternoon was not announced to his countrymen until late last night, and then the cause was not disclosed.

Stefani, Italian news agency, carried a dispatch from Istanbul, Turkey, which intimated the death was not from "natural causes," and hinted Korizis took his own life.

The Athens news agency said today King George II chose Kostas Kotzias, former military governor of Athens, to form a new government, and Kotzias was quoted as asserting that Greece would stand firm to her course, fighting on in "an unprecedented battle."

The Greek high command said "all enemy pressure" had been repelled by the Allied defenses around Mt. Olympus, in the Attakron river valley and around Grevena, where the Nazis are driving toward Kalabaka and Trikkala, guardians of the plains of Thessaly.

Italians Claim Gains

The Italians predicted that their forces soon would recapture the southern Albanian port they named Port Edda for Premier Mussolini's daughter, and said they were approaching Ioannina, capital of Epirus in northwestern Greece.

The Greeks last reported fighting rear guard action at Chlisma, 20 miles north of Porto Edda.

The air war in the west slumped into an overnight lull in contrast to recent devastating raids on London and Berlin. No major operations were reported by the RAF, possibly because of unfavorable weather. German planes dropped a few bombs on southwestern England and northern Scotland.

England bolstered her wartime production in her first conscription of feminine labor. A quarter-million women between the ages of 20 and 21 were expected to sign up for work in the war industries today during the first registration.

Send Replacements

LISBON, April 19.—The local draft board today sent two men to Cleveland for induction into the army. The men, Harry L. Lodge of Lisbon and James Edward McMullen of Lisbon, R. D., were replacements, one for the sixth call on March 11, and the other for the eighth call on March 22.

Victim of Elevator

What No Fires?

For the first time in two weeks, firemen failed to receive a fire call yesterday. About 50 grass fires have been extinguished in that period.

SOUTH OPERATORS STILL HOLDING OUT

(By Associated Press) Southern soft coal operators and the CIO United Mine Workers union remained at odds today on a wage dispute which has kept some 400,000 miners idle since April 1.

As a fuel shortage cooled furnaces in some steel centers, the southern bituminous field operators replied to a union call to meet in New York by asking for a conference in Washington instead.

Northern operators in the eight-state Appalachian soft coal area have agreed to the miners' principal request—for a $7 a day wage, and have gone along with the UMW in their desire for elimination of the wage differential. The southern miners have been getting $5.60 daily and the northerners $6.

But John L. Lewis, chief of the mine workers, has opposed sending any of the miners back to the pits until all of them go.

Washington coal circles heard a report that rationing of the fuel might become necessary to assure supplies to vital defense industries. Some New England factories faced necessity of closing unless fuel is forthcoming soon.

There was disquiet in Detroit, the automobile center.

COUNTY APPROVES TRACTOR PURCHASE

LISBON, April 19.—County commissioners late yesterday approved the purchase of a 60-horsepower Diesel tractor from the Cletre Co., of Cleveland, at a purchase price of $5,867. The county was allowed $1,250 for an old tractor.

Commissioners also purchased a two and one-half yard hydraulic scraper, to be attached to the tractor, from the W. T. Walsh Equipment Co., of Cleveland at a cost of $1,240.

The county engineer's road and bridge fund will make the purchases possible.

Church Women Meet

LISBON, April 19.—A county-wide meeting of the Women's Societies for Christian Service of the Methodist church, held in the local church Friday, brought a large representation of women from all Methodist churches in the county. They heard Miss Ona Porter, missionary to Africa, Miss Ruth Holt, a deaconess in the church, and Mrs. H. E. Blair and Mrs. W. J. Buntgart of Bridgeport.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss duties of local officers in the societies, organized since the merger of all Methodist churches, and to discuss matters of interest to the women of the church.

Motorist Is Injured

Jack Hopper, 17, of East Liverpool, received lacerations and bruises of the head when the car in which he was riding with Robert Osborne, 20, of R. D. 1, East Liverpool, struck the rear of a truck on Route 30, near the junction of Route 170 at 2:15 a. m. today.

Osborne and the truck driver, John Arist, 48, of Cleveland, were uninjured.

ASHES YIELD CLUE IN EASTER MURDER

Church Janitor In Akron Admits Burning Music Teacher's Body

Detectives Harry Kimerer and I. J. Davis disclosed that their discovery of Miss Zwicker's remains was the result of a double search.

Two Heating Plants The church has two heating plants—steam and hot air. The detectives searched through the ashes from the hot air furnace last Monday, but found nothing.

The steam boiler in the other system was in operation, and they did not inspect it. Returning yesterday and finding the fire out in the steam plant, they searched through ashes from this system, again finding nothing.

Then they returned to the ash containers for the hot air system and made their discovery. Coroner R. E. Amos identified the remains as human, and the young woman's father established the full identification through dental bridgework.

The father's first theory was that Miss Zwicker had suffered a loss of memory and wandered away. He said she had been in poor health.

Inspector Cross doubted the amnesia theory, however, pointing out that it would have been virtually impossible for the young woman to disappear without leaving a trace. It was found that she had only about one dollar in her purse Saturday, and Cross said this would have prevented her from making any journeys.

O. K. Harbor Work

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Nearly 150 navigation projects—including improvements for Cleveland and Sandusky harbors—have been approved by the house rivers and harbors committee. Chairman Mansfield (D-Tex.) reported. The legislation would merely authorize the projects and appropriations would have to be made later. Cost of the Cleveland harbor work was estimated at $191,000 and Sandusky, $12,000.

would continue "through 1943" its production on the 1942 model. The 1942 model goes into production this summer.

What effect a new 1943 model policy, combined with the production cut, may have upon motor car prices continues problematical so far as trade sources have been able to determine. The production cut in itself, these sources believe, would not be sufficient to bring an immediate price increase, but various other factors such as higher labor and materials costs and additional taxation on passenger cars, all regarded by the car makers as inevitable, are expected to result in higher retail listings with the beginning of the 1942 model year.
